MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY
EDWARDSVILLE

ONLINE

Instructional Design and Performance Improvement (ID&PI) and Distance Education (DE) are emphasis areas within the Master of Science in Education (MSEd) degree with a major in Instructional Technology. These areas of emphasis prepare students to design and develop innovative learning solutions and human performance interventions within corporate, non-profit, government, higher education, and other settings. Students develop strong skills in design thinking and multimedia development. You will hone your skills in helping others learn, unlearn, and re-learn.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Individuals from all fields of study and backgrounds who have interest in applying design thinking to various learning and education ventures, including corporate training, higher education course creation, performance consulting, and informal learning pursuits

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- Graduate School application and $40 fee
- Submission of all postsecondary transcripts
- Successful completion of a bachelor's prior to enrollment
- Minimum GPA of 3.0 or above (A=4.0) during undergraduate work. Students with an undergraduate GPA between 2.5 and 2.9 will be admitted with conditions.
